

Terms and Conditions

Core facility operations are supported by external grants (i.e. NIH, CPRIT & foundations) and institutional resources enabling substantial subsidization of charges such that users on average pay less than half the cost of services provided. Continued grant and institutional funding is highly dependent on documentation of core support of publications by its users

Acknowledgement of Cores in Publications Publications containing assay results, data, images or products generated by the core require